Small Business Impact Analysis

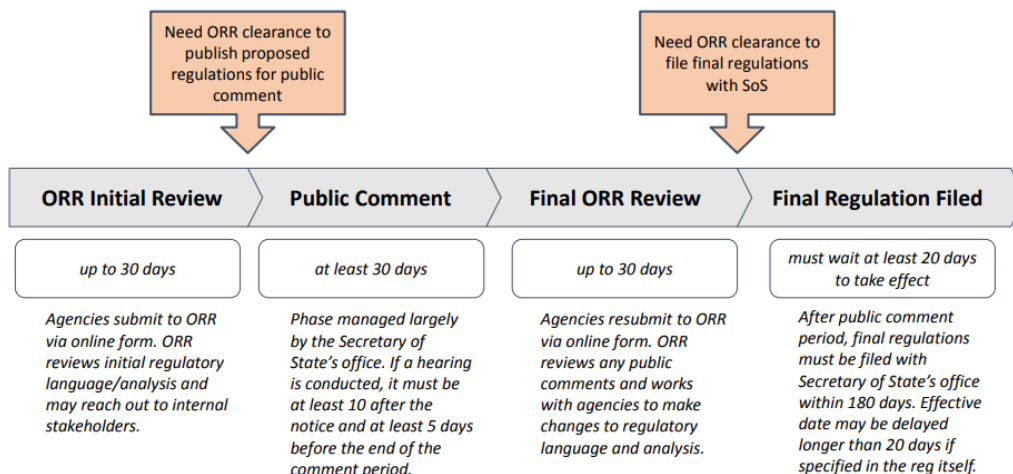

Regulatory Oversight

As part of the Office of Management and Budget, the Office of Regulatory Reform’s (ORR) mission is to review new and amended regulations with a focus on minimizing adverse impacts on Rhode Island businesses, large and small. Since February 2015, ORR has been operating under Executive Order 15-07, which requires all Executive Branch regulations to be reviewed by ORR using a model similar to the federal regulatory model. EO 15-07 outlines a process to ensure regulations are not imposing unnecessary burdens on businesses and citizens.

Prior to EO 15-07 the Director of Regulatory Reform had the authority to intervene on any individual regulatory or permitting issue. With the new process dictated by Executive Order agencies must submit all of their proposed regulatory actions to ORR providing a systematic way to address regulatory issues. ORR reviews an agency’s regulatory package, and if approved, those proposed rules and impact statements go through a public comment process. Any input from that process goes directly back to ORR for final consideration. Below is an outline of the ORR’s role in the regulatory review process. The second round of review is primarily to ensure the agencies take into consideration public comments and amend the regulation as necessary.

Regular Rulemaking and ORR Review

While this is the official process outlined in Executive Order 15-07, ORR frequently works with agencies early by reviewing draft regulations and assisting with the development of regulatory analysis.

Regulatory Submissions Reviewed By ORR

The following regulatory submissions were cleared by ORR during the fiscal year quarter covered by this report. Regulations cleared by ORR are not immediately effective, regulations must go through the formal rulemaking process administered by the Secretary of State’s Office (SOS). In some cases regulations cleared by ORR are not filed with SOS.

The information in this table (except “Days Under Review” and “Clearance Date”) is self-reported by regulatory agencies with their submissions, although ORR can suggest changes to agency’s submissions. Please note that for any post-comment entries with empty cells, the agency was not required to resubmit this information because the regulation received no public comment and no changes were made to the proposed regulation. Emergency regulations might also have missing data because these submissions are exempt from some reporting requirements.

					and businesses conducting underground utility contracting work in Rhode Island are properly qualified to perform that work. The regulations also provide a dispute resolution/claim process for homeowners and municipalities in order to take action on licenses of those performing work in violation of the statute and the rules and regs. The goal is to monitor and regulate the industry while safeguarding homeowners and municipalities. Additionally, the regulations will include statewide standards for performing underground utility contracting work; this will significantly condense the standards from 39 different sets of standards (for each city/town), into one generally applicable set of standards by which the underground utility contractors can comply. This will make it easier for these contractors to both obtain a single statewide license, and to perform statewide, consistent standards.

					the legislature in 2013 to put in place a procedure for all entities foreclosing on Rhode Island mortgages (other than locally based Rhode Island lenders) requiring that the homeowner receive notice that (s)he may take advantage of mediation offered through Rhode Island Housing. If the homeowner is not notified of their right to mediation, the mortgage foreclosure will not be valid. These provisions do not apply to judicial foreclosure. The statute and regulation are applicable only to holders of mortgages who utilize the Rhode Island statutes that allow foreclose without a judicial proceeding. The statute was amended in 2014 and the regulation was amended in October 2014. These amendments reflect requests for additional changes from users and the 2015 statutory change.
